To Whom It May Concern

My motive in writing this letter is based on a wish and a request. But first I would like to introduce myself. I am an artist and have been employed (tenure) for 18 years as university lecturer teaching design and color.

Six years ago I got to know the meditations of Bhagwan Shree Rajneesh. I also met people who knew Him personally. And the following idea arose in me: should there really be a living Buddha, then I want to see and experience Him.

Although in Poona, India everything was different than I expected, the experiences I had there were such that I became His disciple.

Now I am finding out that some people in the United States are asking: "Is this really a religious teacher?"

I can assure you that this is so. This opinion comes from my personal experience and is – needless to say – different from the opinion I held before I saw and experienced this man.

In 1982 I joined the Festival in Rajneeshpuram, Oregon. I was just as astounded about the lively and surprising development of the Rancho Rajneesh as about your country and its people. Everything I had known previously about America I had known second-hand. But the real America was different. It was vast and beautifully young. I am wishing for myself and for you that you would see the enormous gain which has come to your country with Bhagwan Shree Rajneesh.

And this is my request: investigate this situation through your own personal experience and exposure to Rajneeshpuram. And grant my Master, Bhagwan Shree Rajneesh, the stay in your country to live and continue His great task.

Thank you for your attention and sincere regards
