To Whom It May Concern:

For the past 10 years I have been conducting seminars for managers in US government agencies and private industry around the country in the area of human resource management. I am a respected member of the American Society for Training and Development and a credentialed Quality Circle Facilitator with publications.

I have been reading the work of Bhagwan Shree Rajneesh for the past 6 years and have attended groups conducted by Rajneesh professionals.

In my work I have synthesized the works of well-known and respected psychologists and management consultants, e.g. Abraham Maslow and Peter Drucker. The exceptional way in which Bhagwan Shree Rajneesh expresses a personal growth process has been by far the most influential for me in providing the affective and cognitive course materials for thousands of professional people who endeavor to develop their personal and management skills.

The contact I have had with Bhagwan Shree Rajneesh through his publications, workshops and spiritual presence has contributed largely to my own self-confidence and self-esteem, which has had a direct effect on the growth of my business.

Sincerely,

Bonnie Garson, President
