TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

Having been admitted to the practice of law in 1979 after completing studies at the University of Sydney, I have subsequently been engaged in private practice as a solicitor and attorney in Sydney working in the areas of corporate law and civil litigation. I have represented various organisations associated with the disciples of Bhagwan Shree Rajneesh for a number of years.

I have read many books containing Bhagwan's discourses and in my opinion the light he has shed on ancient religious traditions has brought a new accord between religion and the findings of modern science. The breadth of his vision has a fundamental relevance to the manifold disciplines in the arts and sciences, viewing as he does each particular discipline from the perspective of existence as a unity.

Bhagwan's profound insights into the relationship between mankind and the world in which we live is probably only recognised today by those few people who have closely and unprejudicially examined his teachings. However, I am confident that he will be recognised by future generations as a truly great human being who has left to the world a legacy of immeasurable value.
