

Rajneeshpuram, OR 97741

July 23 1983

To whom it may concern.

Having searched for years and years in many different fields for answers to the question what life is all about, I would like to tell you what I think of this man called Bhagwan.

I studied for five years Psychology, Psychopathology, and Philosophy at the University and the "Eidgenossische Technische Hochschule" in Zurich, Switzerland. I worked with maladapted children and with psychiatric patients in different institutions and also in modern Therapeutic Communities. Always I was looking out for more human and more effective ways to help these people. In this way I came in the year 1980 across Bhagwan's ashram in Poona.

Bhagwan combines different modern therapeutic means like Bioenergetic, Gestalt Dance and Creativity, Primal therapy, and many more with the knowing that every person in a deep way already knows what is needed to be done - that every person always has a deep beauty and wisdom within himself. The only thing that is needed is to help him to turn inwards and to encourage him to look and see.

The other very strong healing force working in every therapy but which I find uniquely strong and clear in the field around Bhagwan is love, that is all this incredible forms of energy we human beings are able to give to each other.

Going this way of looking inside and going out and sharing you are bound to make what you might call religious experiences, beauty and Ahh beyond men , beyond everything you ever knew.

So it comes that Bhagwan attracts more and more people that are not looking for therapeutical help but just have a longing to grow as human beings.

I was looking for more effective therapeutical methods and came across a man who is much more than a teacher of science, he is a teacher of life. I had dreamed about finding somebody like this but never thought that it could come true.

Evi Huber

Evi Huber
Liz. phil. I
Universitat Zurich
Psychologist