

7/26/83

Dear Sir,

I became a disciple of Bhagwan Shree Rajwade in 1980. Previously I had finished my graduation and examinations in linguistics and philosophy.

Becoming a disciple of Bhagwan Shree Rajwade was no way a turning aside from the scientific world I had been involved in up to then, but rather a broadening of my vision of understanding. Listening to his discourses I found many gaps in my understanding were filled and the deep questions of my scientific studies were being answered in a profoundly fulfilling manner.

Before that time used to a world of solitary book study his philosophy led me expand my experience into a more communicating way, into a more realistic communication with life, engaging my own creativity.

When I became a fashion designer I was able to built up my own business
using the creative insights and understanding
I had gained from this man.

Even if he is in silence now, just his presence gives me the energy to loose and expend myself creatively in my work.

When I came to Rajneeshpuram this year
and saw this creativity happening here
I realized that this is the way he is working through all of us and communicating his love.
Since I'm a disciple my experience is that the miracle of success in business science and the art is just the same love and joyful creativity

Sincerely yours

Christine Aronoff-Estrella (Maureen Aronoff)
312 Monte Vista Ave.
Oakland Cal. 94611