To whom it may concern!

I am twenty-three and I am Rajneeshee since one year. I would like to say that Bhagwan has brought me a totally new life because he has brought God into my life - and laughter.

I was born in a very catholic family and I had to go to the church each Sunday since I can remember. But I didn't believe that there is any God and I felt it is wasting time to go and do the same dead gestures each Sunday, but I had to go because of my parents. I didn't see any fun in my life and I always just "tried" to live - had never the feeling I am doing it "right now". That was always frustrating me.

Then it happened that I had the first experience with one of Bhagwan's meditations and within a month doing this meditation my life changed totally.

So I became more and more connected to Bhagwan and the first time in my life I felt alive and I felt Bhagwan's presence in my meditations. For the first time in my life I experienced what "God" means and that he really exists.

So for me Bhagwan's religion is alive, because there is a living Master and that's why I can not understand why Bhagwan should not be a religious worker.

I was in Rajneeshpuram last July at the First Annual World Celebration to see my Master and to be physically close to him for the first time and it was just great and unbelievable beautiful. I never had such a feeling of "being really at home" as in Rajneeshpuram and it happened not just because of the beautiful country but through the presence of Bhagwan.

I also have been this year at the Second Annual World Celebration and it is really the greatest feeling to sit in Satsang with Bhagwan and join his dance of love.

much fun
