To Whom It May Concern

As a teacher, and one with a special interest in psychology, sociology and religion, I have read these topics widely and attempted to put in practice anything I found applicable and beneficial in my work.

I worked with dance, eastern techniques, including Yoga and meditation, Tai Chi and Karate, all of which had something for different individuals.

Then I left my home country and while travelling in India came in contact with Bhagwan Shree Rajneesh. Firstly I was amazed by his perception, his obvious intelligence and ability to go beyond our old concepts, introducing a new attitude to learning, to living, and to fulfilling one's potential. And then also on another level, I began to feel what to me is religiousness.

Through both these things, I feel I have been changed. My mind is more open, my way of relating more direct and perceptive. As a professional and as a person I have been, and will continue to be, greatly enriched.
